SOLITUDE & COMMUNITY (part 2)

Yet I am just as sustained by the people around me:

family, friends, parishioners, neighbors; I am not what you would call a loner. I like being with people—the right people, of course—with a good vibe, easy conversation and lots of laughter. Each Friday, we priests gather at Fr. Bob's for drinks, dinner and conversation. Since he has been perched at his dinner table surveying the whole property all week, Fr. Bob is often the inquisitor. "What was that meeting you had on Wednesday evening, Ben? It went late, didn't it?" But he is also the reporter. "A large truck parked in the lot for three hours last night. Do either of you know anything about it?" Fr. Ben and I are on the Council of Priests, so we bring to Fr. Bob the news and gossip of the diocese. "The bishop told us that there is going to be a new study, but I am not sure exactly what it's going to study." We also compare notes on our parishioners, who's sick and who has recovered, who's scheduled for surgery and who is back home from the hospital. Most of this is already known to Fr. Bob; like the KGB, he seems to have agents reporting from everywhere.

Over the years, much has been reported about the loneliness of celibates. I am sure there are ones who are lonely, especially priests who come to the states from foreign countries without others of their native language and culture to commune with. But I am not lonely; I stand with good close friends, collaborate with the priests assigned here, and also those who work throughout the diocese, and I interact and serve parishioners and others who come to our door. There's Larry, without current fixed address, who shows up regularly at our door around noontime, wanting a coupon that can get him lunch. A guy stopped me just the other day at the market to ask a question about Catholic teaching about cremation. I would be a lousy hermit, but I am suited to being a parish priest, thank you very much, because I love living in this community.

Msgr. Mike

ADORATION

This Friday, June 7th, our parish will have Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament from 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. All are invited to come pray and spend some time with Our Lord. Sign-ups are available in the vestibule of the church for those who are willing to volunteer for an hour or more.

CONFIRMATION REGISTRATION

Registration has begun for Year 1 and Year 2 Confirmation students. A place in the program will not be considered until all required paperwork in the packet has been received. There are a very limited number of spaces open in our Year 1 program so parishioners are urged to apply as soon as possible. Hard copies of the application packet are available in the Parish Office Monday-Friday, 8:00–Noon and 1:00–4:00. Each family must come in for their own copy. We look forward to partnering with you throughout your child's Confirmation process.

MASS INTENTIONS

An individual may ask to offer a Mass for several reasons: in thanksgiving, for healing, for the intentions of another person (such as on a birthday), or, as is most common, for the repose of the soul of someone who has died. When requesting a mass intention, a stipend (not a donation) is given to the church for offering the Mass. St. Anne accepts mass intentions for our daily 9:00 a.m. masses, one request per mass. Our 2020 calendar is now available for special requests.
