KEEPING IN TOUCH

In 2015 Father Jacques Mourad spent five months as a hostage of jihadist terrorists in Syria. He describes it as a spiritual experience and says it was praying the Rosary and recalling the teachings of Jesuit Father Paolo Dall'Oglio, who himself had been a prisoner in Syria, that gave him peace and strength. About his experience, Father Mourad has written: "This is what you do in wartime. You throw yourself to the ground. And once you are forced to be close to the ground, you understand the wisdom of being there, for it is close to the ground that you become closer to people and understand their needs and listen. Your presence reminds them that God is present too. God became small; He, too, went close to the ground."

As the pandemic continues, I suspect that we are all getting a little tired of sheltering in place. We want it all to be over and done. We want our lives back! But Father Mourad makes me think that even the quarantining can be a spiritual experience if we are willing to embrace it. A very humbled life can still be the source of great grace.

This reminds me of something one of the desert fathers said: "Abba Poemen said about Abba Pior that every single day he made a fresh beginning." We do well to be open to new epiphanies, be open to seeing others in new ways, to seeing Jesus in new ways, to seeing ourselves in fresh and perhaps even surprising new ways. Taken from our ordinary days we have the opportunity to experience ourselves in a different modality, much like how we experience ourselves changed on a vacation or by engagement during the course of a film, play or concert. Even a simple poem can change our day.

Solitude can stir deep currents within our souls. A theologian I just started reading, Pádraig Ó Tuama, wrote, "I asked myself what story of the Gospels most sounded like what I needed to hear." That's something all of us have time now to ponder. For me, I think it is the wedding feast at Cana. Jesus is at a banquet and I love to eat. But his miracle was to make water into wine because they were running short, which I take to mean it was turning into quite a party. Weddings in the time of Jesus, I read somewhere, were several day affairs so they must have been partying very hardy or the hosts were poor and could not afford as much wine as they needed. I like thinking of Jesus as having a bit of a buzz on, enjoying his time with family and friends. Too often we think of Jesus as only pious. It makes me think that one of the corporal works of mercy is filling up someone's glass or getting them another drink. Hospitality in the name of Christ!

But, of course, right now we can't invite our friends over to the house. We can't be hospitable in the way we like to be. Except that we live in the days of cell phones. A few of my friends occasionally call me on my cell phone and we have a drink together after watching the news on TV. Yesterday with Zoom, I met online with four of my friends, and it was just the balm I needed. It took some doing on my part because, as much as I love technology, I am not very good at it. With the help of my brother and a friend on the phone, I got Zoom downloaded and I learned how to join a Zoom meeting.

We can all call someone, or send an email or text message, we can even send a postcard, letting that someone know they are important to us. Wine or booze are not actually necessary. I just got a phone call from one of my neighbors and it was wonderful. We need each other.

OUR MISSION:

Saint Anne Church exists to help us become disciples of Jesus Christ who connect with God, grow in faith, and serve in love.

VOLUNTEERING OPPORTUNITY

Please pray with us to end the pandemic:

Dear Lord,

We ask for your Divine intervention to bring a quick end to this pandemic. Please heal the sick and comfort the grieving. May your peace replace every worried, anxious and fearful thought. We ask for strength, protection, and energy for medical professionals, first responders, and emergency workers. We pray for wisdom, knowledge, and guidance for leaders in every arena.

Please reverse and minimize the financial devastation that is occurring. Please provide for all who are displaced and in need in any way. We ask for your grace and mercy and for you to do what only you can do. May people look to you to be their source of help, strength, and hope during these uncertain times. In the name of Jesus we ask these things. Amen

Things are changing and daily we need ways to cope with this changing reality. One way to combat fear is to be grateful. There is a ton of science and evidence out there that documents the effects of gratitude on anxiety, depression and mental health. We need mental health and faith in these days ahead. We invite you to begin to write down and talk about the things you are grateful for in these days ahead. Make it a practice. Thank God every day for these things. Invite everyone sheltering with you to do the same. Call people, write to people, keep a gratitude journal. Science has proven that gratitude and fear do not mix.
